A Unique Opportunity to Netweave with a Select Group of Atlanta CEOs

CEO Netweavers is recruiting a select group of business partners that share its focus of developing the Atlanta community by strengthening companies and future business leaders. The work we've done so far has increased demand for our programs, and we'd like help in expanding our impact.

Who are we?

We are an engaged and diverse group of CEO's and trusted advisors committed to freely sharing our relationships, knowledge and skills while cultivating trusted relationships.

We actively engage in outreach programs that support businesses facing an inflection point. We mentor local eMBA students - our future leaders. And, we spotlight business trends, challenges and ways to pay it forward through business at our annual Symposium that takes place each year in April. To date, we have fostered and mentored over 55 businesses and 100 eMBA students; we also hosted 120 participants at our inaugural symposium in 2017. In addition to this outward focus, we also support each other as we grow and expand our businesses.

Our actions are guided by our core values: Servant Leadership, Pay-It-Forward and Trusted Relationships. Our foundation is based on the concept of Netweaving – the process of serving as a strategic matchmaker and effective resource provider for others. To see more, go to <https://ceonetweavers.org/>.

How can you participate?

Interested business partners can journey with us through three levels of sponsorship that combine financial support with active participation in our Inflection Point process and mentoring.
